It is not the job of the federal government to help Americans start, build, or grow businesses. It is not the job of the federal government to subsidize any business. It is not the job of the federal government to favor small businesses over large businesses. It is not the job of the federal government to partner with the banking industry. It is not the job of the federal government to intervene in credit markets. It is not the job of the federal government to lend any business money. It is not the job of the federal government to guarantee loans to any business.
